

Hebrew Language Teacher

Job Summary

Jewish Community Center of Mid-Westchester (JCCMW) seeks part-time, in-person Hebrew language teacher for a college-level high school class through Syracuse University Project Advance (SUPA). Classes will meet 2.5 hours on Thursday evenings, including a 15-minute break, for 27 weeks, from September to May. Students in 11th and 12th grade participating in this class will be highly motivated. They must apply to participate and pass a baseline assessment created by SUPA. All curriculum and materials are also provided by SUPA.

Key Responsibilities and Expectations

- Teach 27 in person Hebrew classes using SUPA's curricular materials and provide make-up classes.
- Hold once a week Zoom office hours.
- Communicate with students outside of class hours to support their coursework.
- In addition to classroom responsibilities, the teacher will be expected to attend regular meetings with a Syracuse University instructor.
- This is a pilot year of the SUPA Hebrew language program at JCCMW. The class is contingent upon minimum class enrollments.
- Once hired, candidate must attend SUPA's one-week Summer Institute in Syracuse, NY in July, 2024.

Preferred Qualifications:

- The ideal candidate will have a graduate degree in education, an undergraduate degree in Hebrew language.
- Five years of experience teaching Hebrew. We would also accept a native Hebrew speaker with a MA in education and two years of experience teaching Hebrew.
- Excellent communication skills.
- Inviting teaching style.
- Love of Hebrew language.
